Likelihood of Agreement on an Ar-

Private advices received here from a high authority are to the effect that the conference at The Hague probably will be redeeined nominally from failure through an agreement on an arbitration project that will satisfy the apparently general demand on that point, but which at the same time, by carefully framed safeguards, will so narrow the field of matters that may or must go before the arbitration tribunal as to make it little more than arbitration in name. Alleged Murderous Assault by Attorney Edward G. Niles.

COURT HOLDS HIM FOR GRAND JURY

Statement of Mrs. Niles Upon Which Warrant Was Issued.

DIVORCE CASE PENDING

Attorney Edward G. Niles, who has an office in the Gunton building, was arraigned in the United States branch of the Police Court before Judge Scott this morning, on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He had been arrested only a short time before he appeared before the judge, and his wife, who charged that he had shot at her only two hours earlier, was not in court to teil her story. In her absence her husband was permitted to waive an examination and give a bond of $500 for his appearance.

The case was sent to the grand jury. William H. Booker, colored, was accepted as his surety. Mrs. Niles was both surprised and alarmed when she learned from a Star reporter of the action of the court. She was surprised that the court would accept such an amount in view of the nature of the charge.

Divorce proceedings are pending between Niles and his wife, and, it is stated, the decree was to have been signed today. After their separation, Mrs. Niles left her husband's house, at No. 138 Massachusetts avenue northeast, and rented a room two doors west of that number. His recent doors west of that number. His recent con-duct toward her has been peculiar, so the wife believes, and although she alteges he has frequently threatened her life, she never believed he would shoot her until this morning.

About 8:30 o'clock this morning Mrs. Niles was seated in the parlor of the house where she is stopping, when the door bell rang. Her husband was at the door and he was admitted by the woman of the house, who answered the call. Entering the parlor where his wife was seated, Mr. Niles, it is said, engaged her in conversa-tion for a few minutes. During this talk, she says that he renewed his demands on her for her diamonds and also spoke of other matters of interest to them. "Then you are not going to give me what I want?" he queried. "I certainly am not," was Mrs. Niles' Markedly high pressures are reported answer. The husband then left the parlor and started toward his wife's room on the second floor, where she had the diamonds. Mrs. Niles followed, and, she alleges, he started to search the bed for the jewels. In the meantime the wife seated herself on the bed to watch the proceedings. Failing to find the diamonds, the husband seated himself on a chair near the bed and repeated the question. The wife repeated her answer, and then she charges he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired. Mrs. Niles sank on the bed and imagined she was speeding to another world. She was sure she had been shot, she said, and it was not until the woman of the house had driven her husband from the room that she realized she was unhurt. Then she found that the bullet had gon through the head of the bed and ha only stopped when it came in contact with a brick in the wall. Splinters from the bed and plaster from the wall fell to the car-pet, and it was in this debris that the flattened bullet was found. This Mrs. Niles is holding as evidence against her husband n the event of a trial of the case in the Criminal Court.

Only one shot was fired, although it is alleged Mr. Niles flourished the revolver afterward. After leaving the house he went to his own home and soon afterward he was on his way to his office.

Mrs. Niles left the house soon after and sought the advice of Attorney French, who represented her in the divorce proceedings. Then she obtained the warrant from Justice of the Peace O'Neal and called on In-

It is stated that although the couple were separated and divorce proceedings were pending, the husband frequently sent his wife delicacies, including ice cream and flowers.

UNABLE TO PAY TAXES

Condition of Heirs of Late Member of Fire Department.

Mr. Alexander H. Bell recently invited the attention of the District Commissioners to the unfortunate condition in which the children of the late Joseph Daniels, a member of the District fire department, find themselves. Their father was killed in 1882 while in the line of duty. Shortly afterward, through the efforts of the department, a fund was raised for the support of the in fant children of their dead comrade, the fund being invested in the name of Samuel Bacon, as trustee for the children, in lot of the property, and several of them still reside therein. This property was all they had for their maintenance. They found life quite a struggle, and, although they did the best they could with their limited means, they have been unable for some means, they have been unable for some years to pay the taxes on the property. On behalf of the children of the dead fireman, Mr. Bell asked the Commissioners to remit the taxes now due on the property, amounting to nearly $130, hoping they would be able to be as generous to the children of a deceased servant as was the public in 1882. The property is assessed for only $851, and Mr. Bell doubts if the real value is much above the assessment.

The Commissioners, however, while de sirous of assisting the children of the dead fireman, find they have no authority in law to remit the taxes, and they regret, there-fore, that they are unable to grant Mr. Bell's request.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Officer Gaines Alleged to Have Beaten Downey Woodward. Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. FORT MYER HEIGHTS, Va.,

June 21, 1899. Officer Gaines of Rosslyn is charged with brutally clubbing Downey Woodward, a resident of Washington, while the latter was under arrest. The affair occurred, it is alleged, at Jackson City Sunday last, and resulted in the serious illness of Woodward. who was immediately conveyed to Washington. Officer Gaines was arrested upon a charge of assault with intent to kill.

In company with Officer Marcey of Alexandria county and several others, it is said, Gaines went to Jackson City Sunday morning to preserve order. Woodward appeared on the scene in company with a woman, but the officers found no cause for inter-ference of any kind. When Woodward and his companion approached Gaines, however, he immediately placed the man under arrest, preferring a charge of profanity against him. Woodward objected, it is said, to being taken into custody, whereupon Gaines is said to have struck him with his club, inflicting severe injuries. Officer Marcey hap-pened to be near when the alleged clubbing took place, and he at once interfered, placing the colored officer under arrest.

At the court house here today Justice Hull gave Gaines a hearing, and in the absence of Woodward, who is believed to be unable to attend, the court dismissed the case. Before discharging the prisoner, however, Justice Hull stated that his action was justified in the absence of the case. tion was justified in the abs tion was justified in the absence of wit-nesses for the commonwealth, but in case of serious complications in the condition of Woodward subsequent proceeding might be brought in the case.

Sad Death of Michael McGrath While on Pleasure Excursion, 1

Small Boat With Eight Occupant Run Down by Steamer Macalester-Particulars of Affair

Michael McGrath, nineteen years old, son of William McGrath, a grocer, in business at No. 140 I street northeast, was drowned in the river in front of River View about 8:30 o'clock last night. He was in a rowboat with seven friends, and his death was the result of the small craft being struck by the steamer Charles Macalester. Philip F. Brady was also thrown from the small boat, but he was rescued after he had floated down the river almost as far as Fort Washington. The steamer Samuel J. Pentz took down a large crowd last night on an excursion given by the Young Men's Institute of Gonzaga College. Brady and McGrath were among those who accompanied the party to enjoy the evening, and they were succcedingly admirably until the steamer Macalester came along. In the small craft with these young men were James Wilson, H. Ivers, Misses Mamie and Jessie Gallaher, Miss Norah Leany and Miss Sullivan. Mr. Brady was at the oars, and the party was enjoying the moonlight night on the water.

The steamer Macalester was headed up the river from Marshall Hall with a party of excursionists, who had been at the resort named with the Knights of the Golden Eagle. Some of those in the small boat saw the approaching steamer, but not until the bow was almost over them did they realize that they were in danger. It was also about this time that Pilot Ross of the Macalester discovered the small craft in his course. He lost no time in giving the engineer a signal to reverse his engine and back the boat. At the same time he changed the course of the boat and made every effort to avoid an accident.

The Crash Comes.

Finally the crash came, and Brady and McGrath jumped to their feet to save their boat and companions. Brady caught hold of the braces beneath the guards, and it is presumed McGrath did the same, al-though nobody saw just what he did. Neither did anybody see him go into the water. When the Macalester backed water and moved from the small craft Brady was seen to fall into the river. Chairs and life preservers were thrown from the steamer by excursionists, who expected to see all the occupants of the rowboat thrown overboard. In the event of such an occurrence, they thought, the presence of the floating material would be of assistance and would probably save life.

As soon as the people on the steamer Pentz realized what had happened First Officer George Cook lowered lifeboats and went to the assistance of the party in the rowboat. McGrath and Brady were miss-ing, but he rescued the other members of the party and took them ashore. Electri-cian Moore of the steamer Pentz witnessed the affair from his boat, and it was by his prompt action, it is said, that First Officer Cook had the search light turned on and then went to the assistance of the panic-stricken people in the boat.

As soon as the six who were rescued reached shore inquiries were made for the missing members of the party. Miss Mamle Gallaher was the first to notice McGrath's absence. She did not see him go overboard, but she missed him when she looked about had floated down the river, and had been rescued by Edward Daly, who is employed at Fort Washington.

An Order to "Go Ahead."

Capt. Blake of the Macalester was considerably disturbed over the affair. Answers to inquiries from the boat indicated that nothing serious had happened. An order to morting serious had happened. An order to more serious had happened. An order to more serious had happened. An order to more serious had a serious had a serious had a serious had. When Capt. The affair did not cause much excitement except among those who were on the water, and many of the excursionists re-turned home with no knowledge that any-thing unusual had happened. Officers of the steamer Macalester, who regret very much the sau occurrence, say that they have considerable trouble on the river after dark to avoid accidents of this kind. Harbormaster Sutton returned from the scene of the drowning at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He left two boats' crews at the

CAPT. JOBE ARRESTED.

Commander of a Company in the 6th Immunes in Trouble. Isaac T. Jobe, a captain of the 6th Regiment of Immunes, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields, in New York city, yesterday morning, on a charge of defrauding the government. He was arrested at the Astor House. He is accused of issuing false vouchers for the transportation of fifteen men over the Pennsylvania railroad from New York to Cincinnati, Ohio, on the strength of which he obtained tickets from J. D. Richardson, an agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, having offices at No. 1196 Broadway. He waived examination and was held by Commissioner Shields in $2,500 ball for examination, after which he was locked up in nation, after which he was locked up in Ludlow street jail.

Ludlow street jail.

Capt. Jobe was mustered out of the volunteer service with his regiment in Porto Rico, and arrived in New York in the latter part of May. He retained the muster rolls of his company, and soon after his arrival here applied at the offices of different religions with youghers made ent railroad companies with vouchers made out on the regular blanks issued by the government for the transportation of en-listed men discharged from the service. From Frederick J. Fleischhauer, an agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, he ob tained individual passes for the transportation of fifteen men to Columbus, Ohio These passes, it is alleged, he sold to T. M. Burroughs, a ticket broker, in the Astor House.

The orders for passes were signed by "Captain J. T. Guard," and Jobe had registered at the Astor House under that Capt. Jobe is about forty-five years old and is of striking figure. He walks with a slight limp, which, he says, is due to a wound received in action. In his pockets were found paper clippings recounting his exploits. tui v Capt. Jobe was, before his appointment as captain, mayor of Johnston City, Tenn., and was at one time c'erk to the committee on the printing of bills in the House of Representatives. There he met Representative Timothy Campbell of New York, who, when he learned of the trouble in which Capt. Jobe was involved, volunteered his services as coursel services as counsel.

Capt. Jobe says that if there is any foundation for the charges against him he knows nothing of it, as he has been on a continuous spree for the last fortnight.

Isaac T. Jobe was appointed an assistant superintendent of street sweeping under the District government Sentember 1 1994 at District government September 1, 1894, at $4 a day. July 1, 1896, he was promoted to a salary of $1,600 per annum, and April 12, 1897, he was removed.

Theft of Diamonds. May Kenridy, ninetsen years old, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Herndon and Lacy on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that she stole two dismond rings worth $300 from Mrs. Lydia F. Levin of No. 44 B street southwast, at whose house she lived.

The defendant told the detectives that she gave the rings to a colored man in Baltimore, and the officers went to that city and saw the man. He denied that he had seen the rings until he came here and heard Mary Kennedy's admission. Then he admitted that she gave them to him, and went back to Baltimore with Detective Herndon to recover them for him.

Imported Negro Miners Fired On by Strike Sympathizers.

NON-UNION MEN REPLY VIGOROUSLY

Six Men Bally Wounded; Three Will Probably Die.

TROOPS MAY BE CALLED OUT

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 21.-The coal miners' strike assumed a serious aspect this morning. Operators of the Sunny Side mine had imported thirty negro miners from Kentucky and were delivering them at the mine when unknown parties concealed in bushes near the mines opened fire on the negroes. It was very dark, and a stamrede followed.

Some of the non-union men responded with revolvers, and many shots were fired. Six men were badly wounded, James Moore, a stockholder in the mine, was shot in the back and is likely to die. Henry Smith and John Phillips, both colored, were probably fatally shot. Ed Geiger, a merchant: Charles Smith, colored, and John Hersweather, colored, were each badly wounded. Shots From Ambush.

The company's plant is located in the northwestern edge of the city, about a nile from the salt wells, and is reached by road branching from the right of West Maryland street. While the vehicle with the negroes and guards was passing a vacant lot just before making a turn in the road to go to the mines, parties on sides of the road fired in the dark upon the men in the wagonette. The driver, whipping up his horses, hurried to the mine. A few minutes later Patroiman Ruston reached the scene, and was fired upon from the bushes.

The shot struck against the back part of his helmet and he was not injured. Three other officers reached the place soon afterward, but they were not fired upon. Physicians were summoned immediately and the wounded men given attention. James Moore was taken to St. Mary's Hos pital and physicians entertain some hopes for his recovery. Charles Smith, one of the wounded regroes, is considered in a critical condition. John Phinpps was bet-ter this morning, with hopes for his recovery. imported Men in Hiding.

The Sunny Side mine remained closed to day, and the imported men were kept in hiding. The proprietors refuse to discuss the affair at all and to divulge any plans. Fred Dilcher, the national committeeman of the U. M. W. A., and State Secretary Kennedy deny all knowledge of the shooting. The authorities seriously consider appealing to Gov. Mount for troops. THE HACK STANDS.

indicated in yesterday's Star, certain of the local hotel men today notified the District Commissioners that they proto see if all members of the party were in the boat. They had been on shore only a short time when Mr. Brady returned. He stands in front of their houses by placing in front of their respective hotels private carriages of their own. The Commissioners recently notified the hotel men, as has been heretofore explained, that the stands maintained in front of the hotels would be abolished, on the ground that unless such stands were made public ones, open to all be lawful no objection would be raised in the matter by the Commissioners. Today Messrs, Birney and Woodard, attorneys for the proprietors of the Arlington, Shoreham, Ebbitt, Riggs, National and Willard's Hotels, advised the Commissioners as follows life preserver and saved himself. It was known that he was not on the Pentz, but, thinking he had been saved in some way, his friends hoped that the worst had not maintain in front of their respective hotels such number of their own private carriages and other vehicles as may be necessary for the accommodation of themselves and their guests, in like manner as other business houses of the city are permitted to use the public streets for business purposes. We are advised that such use of the streets and avenues of this city would be lawful. We take it that no license or special permit will be necessary to such action upon our parts. However, we desire an expression of approval from your board."

mission to leave their cellar doors on the sidewalks open during the daytime, in order to afford air and light to those of their employes engaged at work inside. It was recommended to the Commissioners by the chief of police that permission be granted to those applying. Commissioner Wight referred the matter to Captain Beach, the Engineer Commissioner, who has immediate charge of the streets, with the suggestion that the police regulations might be amended so as to grant the authority desired. It is understood, however, that Captain Beach has called the attention of his associates to the fact that some time ago permission was refused for such a pur-pose, on the ground, it is understood, that the opening of the doors on the streets would be occupation of public space for private purposes.

The Commissioners will, however, permit he replacing of the solid cellar doors by grated ones, the gratings, of course, to be of sufficient strength to bear the weight of pedestrians. But they will not allow the cellar doors to be raised or opened in such a manner as to obstruct the free and un-restricted use of the sidewalks, and they have so instructed the chief of police.
